

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A carrying bag for a brass instrument includes a shell made of flexible material and having opposite end portions. A transport member, e.g. a handle, is secured to the shell. Arranged in the interior of the shell at one of the end portions adjacent to a bell of a brass instrument is a closed stiffening frame which is made of a firm material. The stiffening frame includes a ring-shaped closed end piece and a rim portion attached all-round about the end piece and pointing toward the interior of the shell.
